SMALL BUT MIGHTY

The Twenty range of robot mowers is packed with features and has the user in mind right from the start. Straight away you see the simple user interface which is easy to use and understand. This means after set-up getting the robot to do what you want is just one simple click of a button.

With a tactile front bumper and internal accelerometer, the robot can easily detect the presence of objects on the lawn. Its front axle is unique among robots of its class, independently pivoting and
